MONTENEGRO TO PROSECUTE WAR

Prime Minister Says Austrian Terms Are Refused.

KING STAYS WITH TROOPS

Two of Monarch's Sons Also Remain to Aid in Reorganizing the Resistance and Facilitate, in Case of Necessity, the Retreat of the Army.

Paris, Jan. 22.—An official announcement from the Montenegrin consulate says:

"Lazzar Miouchekovich, the prime minister and the minister of foreign affairs of Montenegro, arrived at Brindisi, accompanied by Queen Milena and the princess on their way to France. He telegraphs to Louis Brunet, Montenegrin chargé d'affaires at Paris, that the king and the government have energetically refused all the Austrian conditions and that Montenegro will continue the war to the bitter end."

"King Nicholas and his two sons remain with the troops to organize the resistance and facilitate, in case of necessity, the retreat of the valorous army. The king expressed the hope that the allies eventually will provide him with effective aid in extricating the army, as has already been done for the Serbian army."

"The malevolent insinuations of which Montenegro has been the victim, founded on partisan news from the enemy, have distressed the king's government." M. Miouchekovich hopes that the last tragic experience undergone by his country will show her heroic fidelity to her allies, to her past and to her future, and will end the unjust campaign.

"The premier is waiting at Brindisi for the diplomatic body, with the members of which he will travel to Lyons."

LACK OF COAL HALTS EGYPTIAN CAMPAIGN

London, Jan. 22.—Germany's campaign in Egypt is meeting with unexpected obstacles, it is announced here, due to the lack of coal to operate the railroad which the Germans have constructed southward through Syria to the edge of the desert approaching the Suez canal.

The construction of the railroad has been largely facilitated by French rails and material for a similar line which was partly constructed, but the absence of coal prevents the actual opening of the road to transportation.

This lack of coal has led the Germans to reopen the old Turkish mines in Syria used by the Romans, but abandoned by them a thousand years ago. The capacity of these mines is limited to 500,000 tons annually.

A large force of Turkish laborers is engaged developing the mines, which are now the chief reliance in getting the railroad to Egypt in operation.

GERMANS REPLACE TURKS

Occupy Gallipoli to Release Native Troops for Egyptian Invasion.

London, Jan. 22.—Telegraphing from Bucharest, Roumania, the Times correspondent says there are 20,000 German troops on the Gallipoli peninsula and that in all the towns and villages the military and civil authorities are German. The correspondent adds that the displaced Turkish troops are being sent into training for an invasion of Egypt.

ONLY FOR HOME SERVICE

Austria Calls Out Men From Fifty to Fifty-five.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—The Austrian government, to replace territorials sent to the front, according to the Overseas News agency, has issued a decree fixing the age limit for the course of the war at fifty-five years.

Those who are between the ages of fifty and fifty-five years will do service only for six weeks continuously and then only in districts outside of the war zone.

WILL BUY ROUMANIAN GRAIN

Anglo-French Syndicate to Purchase All Available.

Bucharest, Roumania, Jan. 22.—An Anglo-French corporation, with a capital of 480,000,000 leu (about $96,000,000), has been formed to buy up all available grain, so that the central powers will be unable to import needed supplies.

It is not known what use will be made by the allies of the proposed purchases.

CROWN PRINCE BORIS.

Bulgarian Heir Apparent Decorated by the Kaiser.

ASQUITH ASKS LABOR SPEED UP MUNITIONS

London, Jan. 22.—The urgent necessity of speeding up the supply of munitions has determined the government to put into force immediately plans for the dilation of skilled labor with semi-skilled, unskilled and women workers in all controlled establishments.

In a statement on the subject in the house of commons Premier Asquith announced "the government was convinced that this plan offered the only prospect of obtaining a sufficient supply of munitions to enable the war to be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion."

"Any lack of munitions," continued the premier, "would exact a heavy toll in lives of soldiers. It is quite impossible that foreign supplies can take the place of the home production of munitions, but even if these sources of supply were indefinitely extended the immense demand thereby caused upon our financial resources and our shipping would present insuperable difficulties."

AMERICAN RELIEF IN EGYPT

Red Cross Cables Authority for Aid in Caring for 4,000 Homeless.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Authority for formation of a committee of Americans to handle war relief work has been cabled to Cairo, Egypt, by the American Red Cross, through the state department. The immediate task of the committee will be to aid in caring for 4,000 homeless Armenians, who are being sheltered at Port Said.

A report received from Cairo says the needs of the Armenians are various and urgent. They fled to Egypt last September, most of them coming from Antioch, and have been housed in an improvised tent village. Bread for them alone is costing $1,000 a month.

STAFF OFFICERS ARE FOR GARRISON PLAN

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 22.—Unqualified support was given Secretary Garrison's continental army plan before the senate military committee by Major General Scott and Major General Bliss, respectively chief and assistant chief of staff of the army.

General Scott declared the plan would save at least five months' time in the building up of an army of defense in a war emergency.

He advocated immediate organization of a reserve corps of officers actually commissioned and assigned to the posts they would take in time of war.

Both of the generals expressed the opinion that universal military service was the only "ideal democratic" method or building an army, but thought the country would not tolerate the proposal now.

General Bliss said it was only talked of by army officers as an academic question on this account.

For Nov. 1, 1915, the total registration of cars was 85,393. The farmer owned cars constituted 54 per cent of the total, according to the census.

HIS FRIEND THE RAT.

The Mine Disaster Story That Went With a Stuffed Rodent.

Any man who will keep a stuffed rat in his room wherever he goes must have a story to tell about the rat. This man has.

"This story," he said, "concerns an experience that made my hair curl. I am an engineer. I was once retained to report upon the working of a mine in southern Arizona. The mine was called the Barbara. On an adjoining claim was another mine called the Hypo. A dispute arose. The Hypo people claimed that the lower levels of the Barbara had been bored into their ground and half a dozen fortunes in ore taken out of their mine."

"In a few cases the fluid that the ganglion contains is tuberculous, but in most cases the ganglion swelling is entirely harmless. In tuberculous cases it is best to remove the sheath and its contents completely."

"There are tricks in all trades, and the Barbara representative knew a few in his. When we reached the mine he said that the tunnel we wished to explore was in a dangerous condition. There had been a cave-in, the timbers were rotten, and so on."

"There are various ways of breaking a weeping sinew. Sometimes it can be dispersed by sudden pressure applied by the thumbs, which bursts the ganglion without breaking the skin. It is best then to bandage the part very tightly in order to prevent the little sac from filling up again. The bandage should contain some thin, hard substance, such as a large coin, directly over the site of the sac. Sometimes a ganglion refuses to burst, but yields to tight bandaging combined with treatment by a blister or by painting with iodine. The cure in such cases is effected by gradual absorption. If other means fail there is nothing to do but to open the ganglion and scrape out its contents."

"That rat saved my life, for he left a clear hole for his trail, and through it came a breath of fresh air that gave life to me. The fellow had bored his way through from the shaft side of the cave. I stayed there two hours after that, until Banks found the cave, got help and dug me out without breaking the airhole."

"I caught the gray rat too. I kept him fed up like a king until he died, and I wouldn't take a lot of money for his skin now."—New York Times.

Rubbing Out a Turner.

On New Bond street, in London, some years ago a Turner worth $60,000 was destroyed by a charwoman. The Turner was a water color drawing, and a painting in oils hung beside it. The owner pointed to the painting and said,

"That picture is dusty. Rub a damp cloth over it."

But the charwoman by mistake rubbed her damp cloth over the water color, turning it into a blot, a smudge, and thus one of the finest Turners disappeared from the world.

Milady's Last Year Auto Frock Will Do

(By United Press)

Chicago, Jan. 22—Nineteen sixteen automobiles and milady's 1916 auto frocks are to be trimmed in last year's trimmings. Driving costumes need not be altered one whit, said representatives of more than one hundred makes of cars at the Chicago Automobile show which started today at the Coliseum. A change in upholstering this season would make that part of the car cost from 150 to 500 per cent more than a year ago—due to the war, they said. Manufacturers therefore are using trimmings ordered a year ago and milady need not change her auto habit unless she so elects.

In women's cars tan, white and gray upholstering will predominate. In the heavier cars the usual black and buff trimmings will be most in evidence. The keynote in automobile making this season, say manufacturers, is simplicity and refinement. Cars are going to be more luxurious and less gaudy. "We had a great quantity of silver trimmings ordered for our electrics, and until our women decorator came along and told us it was bad taste we thought we had something pretty nice," admitted a prominent Chicago auto maker today. "Those silver trimmings went to the scrap heap. We have built our car along lines of simplicity and have done away with all gaudy trimmings."

THE SARA RUTH BATES COMPANY

The Fourth Entertainment of the Midland Lyceum Course Monday Evening, Jan. 24

HELD AT THE CAMELS HALL

Under Auspices of the Baracca Class of the First Baptist Church.

Fine Entertainment

The fourth entertainment of the Midland Lyceum Bureau given under the auspices of the Baracca class of the First Baptist church will be held on Monday evening, January 24, at the Camels hall, the Sara Ruth Bates company appearing in a novel entertainment.

When Sara Ruth Bates and her company get on the platform there is no use resisting it, there is no use looking glum, there is no use fighting against the inevitable. If you try it they will sweep you off your feet. There is no escaping the jolly infection of that trio. They are a bubbling, effervescent crowd (three are a crowd), everything wholesome, everything and his repertoire will please the critic as well as the music lover. Miss Bates just "grewed" like Toppy, as a reader. She studied a great deal, but when all is said and done Miss Bates just "grewed". She doesn't give anything like anybody else gives it. She

Even if all this sounds good enough, there is one thing more. The company will present a sketch or playlet as a part of their program.

Next Wednesday has been set apart by the church as a feast day to commemorate the conversion of St. Paul. Christianity owes more to the great Apostle to the Gentiles than to any other man. St. Paul was one of the Titanic figures of the past, his influence is great today. The turning point in this great man's life is full of interest; it was a tremendous affair and one of the greatest testimonies to the converting power of Christ. We will study the event which led to St. Paul's conversion—the vision—the results. 11:45 a. m. Sunday school. 7:30 p. m. evening prayer and sermon. Subject, "The great Renunciation." tar Water.

Tar water was a cure-all in the eighteenth century. It was prepared by pouring a gallon of water on a quart of tar, and the dose was half a pint in the morning and a second glass in the afternoon. Its use became so fashionable that a contemporary noted, "It's as common to call for a glass of tar water in a coffee house as a dish of tea or coffee."

Mescal Buttons.

The "sacred mushroom" of the Aztecs, which was called by them teonacatl and used as an intoxicant, was, it appears, not a mushroom, but the narcotic cactus Lophophora Williamsii, now well known for its use by the South American Indians in religious ceremonies. It is popularly called "mescal button," though a better name is peyote. Early writers on Mexico described it as a mushroom, and this notion as to its botanical status still survives. The mistake is due to the fact that in one of the two principal forms in which it is prepared the head of the plant is cut off transversely, and when dried it bears a close resemblance to a mushroom.

Says Germany Seeks To Make Trouble for Italy Through Vatican

BY ALICE ROHE

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, Jan. 7 (By Mail)—Italian diplomats believe Germany is trying to make internal trouble for Italy through the Vatican. The Vatican is the seat of government of the Catholic church, much as the District of Columbia is the seat of government of the United States. The Vatican, however, is classed as exclusively a seat of spiritual government, and is supposed to have nothing to do with the temporal government of Italy or any other country. Prior to 1870 the temporal power of the church was taken away in 1871, Italy established

The Law of Guarantee whereby the Vatican is guaranteed absolute protection by Italy, from interference from any source with its affairs as a spiritual governing agency. So long as Italy alone guarantees protection to the Vatican, Italy retains absolute control of all her territory. However, should other nations step in and say that inasmuch as the Catholic church has ramifications throughout the world, they feel that all the nations should jointly guarantee protection to the Vatican, Italy then would be in a peculiar position. It is the fear that Germany is trying to engineer such an internationalizing of the Law of Guarantee, that is worrying Italian diplomats at present. As Italy cleaves it, the danger of internationalizing the Vatican's guarantee of protection lies in this hypothetical case: Suppose the Vatican should attempt to interfere with temporal government in Italy and Italy fought the attempt as it fought the temporal power of the church prior to 1870. Suppose also that there were an international law of guarantee. Then suppose Germany was interested in making all the trouble for Italy that it possible could. All Germany would have to do would be to step in and say to Italy "Here! We guarantee non-interference with the Vatican and we want you to let the Vatican alone." Any other nation which might be a party to the guaranteee and which had a grudge against Italy could do the same thing. But so long as Italy alone guarantees non-interference with the Vatican, it controls the situation.

This question had lain dormant for many years until the present war aroused it. The first public recognition Italy made that the question was again stirred up was the recent speech by Minister Orlando at Palermo, in which he reiterated and emphasized the fact that Italy and Italy alone will protect the Vatican. Many Americans wrongly interpreted that speech as indicating that Italy would countenance the re-establishing of the temporal power of the church in Italy. It really was meant to emphasize the fact that Italy would not countenance the internationalization of the law of guarantee. From 1873 to 1879 Bismarck fought the law, claiming that Italy thereby had made the Pope unattackable. The Italian government did not heed Bismarck's words and acts on this score, so Bismarck sought favor with the Vatican. Not so very long after that his plan to engineer the Triple Alliance came to light. Italy was not much in favor of it. Bismarck again stirred up the internationalization of the law of guarantee, demanding that it may be a world affair, not an Italian affair. Such a powerful fight did Bismarck wage on this score that Italy finally agreed to the Triple Alliance on condition that the law of guarantee be dropped. The revival of the temporal power of the church is not considered at all likely in Italy, either in the Vatican or elsewhere, but Germans say Italians who watch the situation closely, see the enthusiasm, patriotism and loyalty of chaplains at the Italian front and the manner in which various branches of the church have contributed to the government for the war, is uneasy and wants to revive the plan to internationalize the law of guarantee.

Italy considers that such action would cause untold international complications and diplomatic meddling in Italian affairs and Italy

Plan Restoration
Of Palestine

(By United Press)

Chicago, Jan. 22—A thousand delegates from Jewish organizations throughout America are to gather in Chicago tomorrow to promote the Jewish plan for the development of Palestine and particularly, Jerusalem.

They come to plan for an international congress of their race, which is expected to plan the restoration of Palestine to the Jews. Hundreds of thousands of dollars already have been pledged toward this and much already has been accomplished. Louis

D. Brandeis, Boston lawyer, who has been prominent among the Zionists, declared that the American Congress of Jews is not indulging in an idle dream.

"It is more than a possibility," he said.

To Isaac Norris, the speaker of the colonial assembly, is inscribed the hen-or of living originally suggested the prophetic words from Leviticus xxv, 10, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof," which were cast on the bell. The reason for the selection of this text at a time when there was not the slightest thought of a break with the mother country has been a subject of much conjecture, but the true reason is apparent when the full text is read, "And ye shall hallow the fiftieth year and proclaim liberty throughout the land and to all the inhabitants thereof." In selecting the text the Quakers had in mind the arrival of William Penn and their forefathers in America—Christian Herald.

Brainerd Quint Proves too Fast and Accurate for the Aitkin High at Basketball

BRAINERD HAD IT "ON 'EM"

Mid-Year Examinations Engrossed Minds of Students and Took Some of Snap out of Play

The local high school quint last night defeated the Aitkin high at basketball by a score of 20 to 12. The locals did not play their usual fast game and did not show up as well as they have in the other two games.

From the first appearance the Aitkinites presented when they came on the floor, it was evident that the Brainerd team had it "on 'em." The Brainerd quint's work was very good, but their basket shooting was accurate and far below the average shooting they have been doing in other games.

That the Brainerd team did not show up better is mostly due to the fact that during the past week the mid-year examinations have been held and this naturally detracted from the amount of practice which they could receive.

Here it might be stated that all the men who have been playing on the first team successfully passed their examinations and will be eligible to play right along for the next six weeks.

It is hoped that the Brainerd squad will get in more practice this week and will be back in their usual form by next Friday night when the Staples quint will journey to this city to play the locals.

Those taking part in the program were Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Rifenrath who played a piano duet, the "Poet and Peasant" overture by Suppe; vocal duet "The Crucifix" by Faure, sung by the Misses Anna Michaelson and Maybelle Johnson; vocal solo by County Attorney S. F. Alderman; cello solo, "Good Bye," by Tosti, played by Wm. Rodenkirchen; song "Until the Dawn" by Parks, sung by the quartet, Messrs. Bye, Cohen, Swanson and Long; soprano solo by Miss Myrtle Olson, "March de Concert" of Papini by Edwin Harris Bergh and Julius Witham, violin and Miss Cecil Witham, piano; address, "What It Means to be a Moose," by C. A. Bevier, dictator of the Brainerd lodge of Moose.

The accompanists were Mrs. Walter F. Wieland and Miss Cecil Witham.

ASSAILANT BELIEVED DRUNK

Allen Askin Arrested, Has Examination in Municipal Court, Bound Over to Grand Jury

Gus Raymond, well known business man of Fort Ripley, was called to the door of his home on a stormy night this week and when he opened the same, a man plunged out of the darkness and slashed him with a knife, making a cut of 14 inches which required eight stitches by Dr. P. L. Berge to repair the damage.

Raymond grappled with the man, who he alleges is Allen Askin, and prevented further cutting. He was turned over to the authorities. Askin says he knows positively nothing about the occurrence.

In municipal court late Friday afternoon after a short examination before Judge Gustave Halvorson, Askin was bound over to the grand jury in bonds of $500.

DEVELOPMENTS OF WEEK ON RANGE

Cuyuna Range Power Company Doubles its Power by Putting in Another Dam at Pillager

BRAINERD-CUYUNA WORK SOON

Twenty Mines Expected to be in Operation in the Spring—Many Drills Exploring Drilling is increasing in volume on the Cuyuna Iron range and it is expected that this season will see twenty mines on the shipping list. The Cuyuna Range Power Co. will put in another dam at Pillager, thus doubling its capacity and illustrating the trend for a greater demand for electrical current on the part of mines of the Cuyuna range. August Swanson has been re-appointed mining inspector by the county commissioners.

George H. Crosby, of Duluth, is reported to have taken an option for a lease at 32 cents a ton royalty on the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section J8, township 46, range 29 near the Rowe mine at Riverton.

A release of option has been filed by Anna M. Flynn to Fred L. Cotton covering lots 1 and 2, the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 31, township 47, range 29. A modification of lease has also been filed by Margaret Keating and husband and others to the Inland Steel Co. covering the undivided three-quarters of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 11, township 46, range 29.

Drilling on the Erickson property by Mo Brothertons is said to have disclosed ore in 15 holes, revealing, it is claimed, several million tons of ore. The farm is located near Deerwood.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd is pumping 1,800 gallons and is expected to operate on a large scale within 30 days. Some drilling is being done east of the city of Brainerd by the Longyear Exploration Co.

At the Rowley mine at Barrows sinking operations have been delayed by the severe weather. The Adbar mine east of Brainerd has its shaft down 50 feet. It will be made a drop shaft. The force of miners is being increased at the Wilcox mine at Woodrow.

Mo Brothers have started drilling on the Christ Rushmeyer land. The Berg Exploration Co. has two drills on the Hans Anderson forty. The Potts Exploration Co. has six drills on the Merritt property. The Stowell Exploration Co. has several drills at work.

Iron ore is confidently expected to increase in value 75 cents a ton and may go higher, thus making it profitable to mine underground properties. There now remains no doubt about the range being a busy place winter and summer.

BOARD MEMBERS ENJOY BANQUET

Advisory Board of Chamber of Commerce and Invited Guests Enjoy Dinner at Ransford

WAS A GET-TOGETHER MEETING

M. J. Brent of Chicago Spoke on Canning, Harry Patek on Paint Jobbing House for City

The first get-together meeting of the new advisory board and their guests was held at the Ransford hotel Friday evening when they discussed a fine banquet in the spacious dining room. Listened to addresses and reviewed and planned matters of interest to the organization.

President Henry L. Cohen, at the head of the table, presided. Members of the advisory board are chairmen of the various committees. These were present:

Henry L. Cohen, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Rev. G. P. Sheridan, chairman of the house and social committee; A. L. Hoffman, secretary pro tem and chairman of the finance committee; Erick Krongberg, chairman of the membership committee; S. R. Adair, chairman of the county and good roads committee; G. S. Swanson, chairman of the legislation committee; R. R. Wise, chairman of the manufacturing committee; George D. LaBar, chairman of the railroads committee; C. A. Allbright, chairman fire protection committee; Dr. Werner Hemstead, chairman committee on taxation and assessments; G. P. O'Brien, chairman mining committee; E. H. Jones, chairman parks and playgrounds committee; Edward Crust, chairman streets and boulevards committee; F. H. Gruenhagen, chairman agricultural committee; O. A. Peterson, chairman county officers committee; D. E. Whitney, chairman public buildings committee; H. E. Kundert, chairman city officers committee; Carl Zapfe, chairman public affairs committee; R. B. Withington, chairman investigation committee; Dr. J. A. Thabes, chairman Jefferson Highway committee; W. A. Spencer, chairman automobile committee; M. J. Brent, Chicago, of the Hastings Industrial Co., manufacturers of canning machinery; Harry Patek of C. M. Patek & Son and John A. Hoffbauer of the Dispatch.

The first speaker was Harry Patek and he related how Brainerd, with a little co-operation of its merchants and those in the vicinity, could secure the establishment in the city of a paint jobbing house of Milwaukee, Wis. They and intended to locate in Minneapolis, but he showed them how southern Minnesota business could be handled from Wisconsin and how northern Minnesota and the Dakotas could economically be handled from Brainerd.

The firm is Patek Brothers, and Carl Zapfe, whose home was formerly in Milwaukee, spoke of the establishment and said they were a substantial and well known firm in Wisconsin, and that the Chamber of Commerce should lend its influence and energy towards assisting Mr. Patek to secure their location in Brainerd and that it would be a most worthy achievement on the part of the organization if successful.

Correspondence will be entered into with the firm and the wholesale and jobbers committee will devote its attention to the project.

Mr. Patek, when interviewed by the Dispatch on Saturday, said he spoke with M. L. Patek and G. W. Patek, firm members, at Milwaukee last week and went over the situation at Brainerd and vicinity showing them the business possibilities in this district, the opening of the new mines, the increased agricultural growth and the outlook for new building here and in the Dakotas.

"Patek Brothers have definitely decided to locate a branch in Minnesota and had considered Minneapolis, but I feel confident," said Mr. Patek, "that with reasonable co-operation locally we can persuade these people to come to Brainerd. They will carry from one to three carloads of paint in stock in Brainerd constantly, and will supply their business in northern Minnesota, the iron range, and the Dakotas from Brainerd, establishing a price f. o. b. Brainerd which will be identical with prices offered by Twin City and Duluth jobbers f. o. b. Minneapolis or Duluth. This will make Brainerd a more desirable paint headquarters for northern Minnesota merchants than either of the Twin Cities, as it will afford them prompt delivery and a saving in freight.

Iron ore is confidently expected to increase in value 75 cents a ton and may go higher, thus making it profitable to mine underground properties. There now remains no doubt about the range being a busy place winter and summer.

Can

you hear "overtones"

If you can, you will hear more of them when Victor Records are played on a Victrola than you will hear on any other similar instrument.

Overtones can be reproduced only when the artist who made the record created them. Caruso has the most wonderful tenor voice the world has ever known—it is richer in overtones than any such voice has ever been.

Overtones, as separate sounds, are audible only to the trained and sensitive ear. They are harmonic supplements of the fundamental tone, but—when Caruso sings, when the master bow of a Kreisler sweeps across the violin strings, the overtones are there and you are conscious of them in the brilliance and beauty of the music which is yours through the Victrola.

Hearing is believing. Come in and we will gladly play any music you wish to hear. Victrolas $15 to $300.

DARING BANDIT SLAYS OFFICER

Rob Chicago Tourist Agency of $900 and Escapes.

Occurs on crowded street

Cashier Resists Robber and Is Painfully Wounded and Backed Into the Vault With Four Other Employees. Policeman Attracted to Scene Is Shot Through the Heart.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—A bandit, accompanied by a woman, ruined the tourist agency of Thomas A. Cook & Son of $900, wounded the cashier, killed a policeman and escaped.

According to the police the deed was the most daring of years in this city. It was accomplished on one of the busiest streets of the downtown district at an hour when the thoroughfare was congested with automobiles and workers on their way home.

The woman did not participate in the robbery. She ordered a taxicab at the Great Northern hotel through the doorman and John McCabe responded. The woman instructed him to drive to the Cook offices. There she waited without alighting.

Meanwhile the robber had entered the offices. The cashier, Ernest L. Walsh, attempted to reach a revolver, but was shot and painfully injured and backed into a vault with four other employees.

Bremer A. Johnson, a traffic policeman, was attracted to the scene, but found the bandit had locked the door after entering.

Johnson was trying to force an entrance when the robber suddenly threw it open and fired a bullet into the officer's heart.

The bandit then scattered the throng on the sidewalk and leaped toward the taxicab. He pointed his weapon at McCabe and ordered him to drive away, but McCabe jumped from the machine. The bandit hesitated a second and then sped up an alley. The woman followed.

CONGRESS PROVES NATION IS NEUTRAL

As Much Opposition to England as to Germany Noted.

MANY FAVOR ARMS EMBARGO

Secret Vote Would Probably Decide For Measure Prohibiting Export of Arms, but in the Open Men Will Not Take This Stand and Shut the Doors to the Steady Stream of Gold.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Jan. 24.—[Special]—Complaint that our people, instead of being neutral, are almost wholly on the side of the allies has been answered by the expressions of opinion in both senate and house since congress convened.

If for no other reason, congress ought to be in session so that the world may know the general attitude of the people as expressed by their representatives. That there is a feeling against the outrages by Great Britain as well as the sinking of ships by submarines has been apparent since congress has been given an opportunity for public debate.

Opposition to English methods run all the way from demanding an embargo upon munitions of war to a demand that Americans be kept off belligerent ships, so as not to embroil us in the European war.

Embargo Unlikely.

Perhaps if a secret vote could be taken in both houses of congress there would be a declaration for an embargo, but in the open there will never be a majority to carry through any such proposition unless Great Britain further interferes with our commerce or goes to an extent that her course becomes unbearable. There is now too much profit in the shipment of supplies of all kinds to the allies and too much satisfaction with the gold that is coming to our shores to have it stopped by an embargo.

Great Britain may, however, get wise to the fact that the sentiment which was favorable to her at first and is still favorable to France may not continue under the course she has been pursuing.

Tales of Imaginary Invasion.

Some people have wondered at the popularity of the "tales of imaginary invasion" of the United States that have been sent broadcast throughout the country, and possibly there has been a question as to whether they were believed as other than the wildest kind of fiction. This is the way Congressman Mondell of Wyoming spoke of them in the house:

"I wish I had the words to express the scorn I feel for those yellow streaked, soft hearted Americans, those almost treasonable Americans, who write those tales of imaginary invasions which, if what they suggested were in any way possible, would prove us to be the most pusillanimous, spineless and unworthy folk that ever lived upon the face of the earth."

Quoting Wilson Versus Wilson.

The favorite pastime of Senator Borah of Idaho—and I suppose he does it as a matter of amusement—is to quote what Woodrow Wilson wrote at different times, showing that he now takes a different position. Probably it does not disturb the president, though it does worry some of his supporters, who think that a consistent record is necessary.

Many a statesman has broken his back trying to be consistent or trying to prove that he has been consistent. Men change with the times, and what a man thought was right ten or twenty years ago he may find is wrong applied to present conditions. Besides, a man might not have written quite so prolifically as did Wilson had he any idea at the time that he would one day be president.

Carranza First Chief.

There is no president of Mexico, and Carranza will not become president temporarily because he wants to keep as close to the constitution as he can. If he becomes temporary president he cannot be a candidate for president, so he is now "first chief." It is the first chief which our government has recognized in Mexico.

Mutual Admiration Society.

Congressman Mann and Congressman Foster, both from Illinois, had one day indulged in a long colloquy of little importance, the subject being who had been right about a bureau of the government. With give and take, little of importance being said, their time expired just as they were helping bouquets upon each other. They made an effort to get more time, when Emer son of Ohio interposed to ask:

"Is this time to be used for the mutual admiration society?"

And when the time was granted it was shown that Emerson guessed right, for the compliments continued.

Want to Talk War.

Not much time was spent on the conservation bills. The house did not want to talk about such dry subjects as the whole public land policy of the country when the members could be talking about war and preparedness. They want a real live topic for debate. Their minds are wholly occupied with wars and rumors of wars.

THE FEZ AND THE OTTOMAN.

Colors Mean Much, and Only the Arab Foregoes the Tarboosh.

That stream of people crossing the Galata bridge, over the Golden Horn, runs red, for every Ottoman, except the Arab, must wear the tarboosh. "The man with a hat" means the foreigner. The way to see Constantinople without attracting attention to yourself is to slip on a tarboosh, but the wise foreigner has been slow thus to surrender the one visible token of special extraterritorial rights, for when trouble is afoot the word goes out to spare "the man with a hat" because of the fear of international complications. During the reactionary revolution that followed on the heels of the constitution there was a ludicrous scramble on the part of the Greeks and other Christians to get beneath hats, and the sudden crop of silk hats and derbies was wonderful to behold.

Fashions in fezzes pass in review across the bridge. The Albanian has a white headress—a cross between a fez and a skullcap. The Persian wears a huge black fez dome that is matched in size only by the big brown bulb that crowns the head of the dervish. The hadji, whose merit in having made the haj, or pilgrimage, to Mecca is proclaimed by his huge turban, is a frequent figure on the bridge, for every Moslem man who has the means and the physical strength is expected to visit the birthplace of the prophet at least once in his life. The elaborately wound headdress of the hadji is of white cloth, but a sayid's, or descendant of Mohammed, is of green. Sometimes the mosque officials, or imams, even when they are not of the prophet's blood, wear the green turban.

On the last day of the session Morse went to the committee room and told them that he had stretched a wire to the top of the capitol building and had a young man up there. If they would write a message he would send it up, and the young man would bring them copy of it. None of them believed it could be done. Judge Caruthers, however, pulled the envelope of a letter out of his pocket and wrote a message. Mr. Morse, who had his instrument with him, sat down and sent the message. In a few minutes the young man walked into the room with an exact copy of the message. The committee reported favorably, and recommended the appropriation.

The bill passed just before the adjournment. Some one went to Mr. Morse's boarding house to inform him that the appropriation was made. The daughter of the landlady went to Mr. Morse's room, waked him and gave him the welcome news. He said to

THE FIRST TELEGRAM.

It Was Not the Famous Message Sent by Morse's Daughter.

Hidden away in the archives of the Tennessee Historical society at Nashville is the account of the first actual message ever sent over a telegraph line. That dispatch differs materially from the solemn message that passed over the wire between Washington and Baltimore in the year 1843. It illustrates well, however, the lack of seriousness with which Mr. Morse's invention was taken when he first offered it to the world.

According to the account preserved at Nashville, Hon. Robert L. Caruthers of Lebanon, Tenn., was a member of Congress in 1843, and a member of the committee to which was referred Mr. Morse's application for an appropriation to build a telegraph line from Washington to Baltimore. Most of the members of the committee looked upon Morse as a visionary, and his proposal as impracticable.

On the last day of the session Morse went to the committee room and told them that he had stretched a wire to the top of the capitol building and had a young man up there. If they would write a message he would send it up, and the young man would bring them copy of it. None of them believed it could be done. Judge Caruthers, however, pulled the envelope of a letter out of his pocket and wrote a message. Mr. Morse, who had his instrument with him, sat down and sent the message. In a few minutes the young man walked into the room with an exact copy of the message. The committee reported favorably, and recommended the appropriation.

The bill passed just before the adjournment. Some one went to Mr. Morse's boarding house to inform him that the appropriation was made. The daughter of the landlady went to Mr. Morse's room, waked him and gave him the welcome news. He said to her, "My daughter, you shall send the first message that goes from Washington to Baltimore." That promise was fulfilled when she sent the famous message: "What hath God wrought."

Judge Caruthers was an ardent Whig, and in 1843 the Whigs were very angry with President Tyler, whom they accused of betraying the party. The message that Judge Caruthers sent from the committee room to the young man at the top of the Capitol was, "Tyler deserves to be hanged."—Youth's Companion.

Life of Air Leaks Away.

Air seems to spoil easily. Air traveling through shafts and special air chambers—in fact, air going through anything that cuts it off from the ocean of atmosphere—loses some of its indescribable vitalizing qualities and is liable to cause weariness and feeling of depression to those who habitually breathe in artificially ventilated houses. Scientific examination may show such air absolutely pure, but all the same it is poor stuff to take into the lungs. This also explains the real rock bottom difference between town and country air. Highly artificial air and highly artificial food, no matter how good they seem, are not the real stuff themselves.—New York Press.

Paris For Politeness.

Translated rather crudely and literally, this is the notice in Paris trolley car: "Messieurs les passagers descendu from the carriage are urged (literally "prayed"), before renouncing the shelter which the carriage they are about to quit offers them, to assure themselves, as a preliminary, that no carriage coming in the opposite direction is in proximity."

Hope for the best, but work hard for the result.

EXERCISE AND GRECIAN BEAUTY WHAT IT MEANS.

Many thousands of women are now paying attention to physical culture and the proper exercise of their body muscles, where, thirty years ago or fifty years ago there was no thought expended on this science which is quite necessary to physical beauty. The reason the Greeks, both men and women, excelled in beautiful and symmetrical forms was because of the attention they paid to the proper exercise. Then, too, they were untrammeled by corsets, shoes and the inconveniences of clothing. To the minds of some women the idea of physical exercise conveys only the idea of hard fatiguing work. Mild exercise continued day after day is best for the body and spirits and health. Without proper exercise there can be no health, and without health there can be no real beauty.

There is no stronger proof of the sound remedial value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription than that it restores the wasted form to its wonted roundness.

The mighty restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription speedily cures all womanly troubles to disappear—compels the organs to properly perform their natural functions, corrects displacements, overcomes irregularities, removes pain and misery at certain times and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women.

It is a wonderful prescription prepared only from Nature's roots with glycerine, with no alcohol to falsely stimulate. It banishes pain, headache, backache, low spirits, hot flashes, draggling-down sensations, worry and sleeplessness surely and without loss of time. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.
